Tips:

- Soaking the cooked chicken in cold water keeps the meat firm and tender.
- The water that's used to poach the chicken can be used in place of chicken broth, but you'll need to add a little salt.

Method

Rice:

- Wash both types of rice and drain.
- Heat up pot with oil and fry ginger until fragrant.
- Add garlic and fry until golden brown.
- Add chicken broth and bring it to a boil.
- Transfer the mixture to a rice cooker. Add in the washed rice and proceed to cook with pandan leaves.

Steamed chicken:

- Boil water in a deep pot and add ginger, spring onion and rock sugar.
- Poach chicken breast for 20 mins under low flame.
- Soak cooked chicken in cold water for 4-5 mins before cutting it into slices.
- Serve the chicken with 120g cooked rice, 80g chicken meat and 60g blanched vegetables, with a dash of sesame oil.
